Town Council Vote Selves Salaries

LUNDY, VALE AND BOWSER OPPOSE - MAYOR'S IDEA

At the regular meeting of council held on Monday evening a by-law, introduced by Mayor Dales, providing that the Mayor and members of the council be paid a certain amount for their services beginning January 1, 1942, was passed. After considerable discussion an amount was set for the Mayor at $300 per year and for the members of the council $5 per day for attendance at regular or special meetings to an amount not exceeding $125 per year.

"With all due respect to the tax rate I would like to submit this by-law," said the Mayor. "The horse and buggy days have gone. It is of no personal interest to me because I will only be Mayor for this year. Someone has to have courage to introduce it, so I am taking the courage to do it."

Clerk N. L. Mathews stated that the by-law was perfectly legal, and that a yearly amount for members of the council could not be fixed, because it must depend on the meetings attended.

"I feel that your Mayor should be paid $300, chairman of the water and light $200, chairman of the road and bridge $175 or $200, and the rest be paid $125," said Deputy Reeve Vale. "But while I am a very great friend of these gentlemen, I don't think they should receive it this year. We really should not pass a by-law such as this unless it is made an issue at nomination. Secondly, if you intend to pay councillors of this town, the size of the body should be decreased. I think a council of five could very well handle the affairs of the town of Newmarket. The Statute would have to be changed before we could reduce the number. And then there is the question of the advisability of passing such a by-law in war time. We have served for many years before the war, and now it is in the interest of everyone to cut down expenses."

"I rather agree with Mr. Vale, that we should give the people the opportunity of expressing themselves," spoke up Reeve Fred Lundy. "This question should be put to the people in the form of a plebiscite. I don't approve of the plan at all. I know very well what would happen if we went to the people with it. We should have given them ample warning that we were going to do this. This is war time, and every man should have a job to do, and this is our job while the war is on. Anyone in public office should do his duty without hope of reward. When the war is over and things are adjusted, we could tell the people that we were going to do this and they would know what was coming. I know that the chairman of the two committees do a tremendous amount of work, Mr. Bowser and Mr. Evans, and to some extent Mr. Dixon. I believe that they should in some way be paid for what they do, but not at this time."

"This question was brought up some time ago and I opposed it," stated Ald. Dixon. "The argument (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

TO GIVE RECITAL

New St. Paul's Minister Inducted

FATHER & BROTHER ASSIST BISHOP IN SERVICE

St. Paul's Anglican Church was filled to the doors last evening on the occasion of the Induction of Rev. G. H. Johnson, M.A., B.D., into the Incumbency of St. Paul's Church and Parish, by Right Rev. A. R. Beverley, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese. It was unique in that Mr. Johnson's father and brother, both clergymen in the diocese, took part in the service. Rev. G. Johnson of East Toronto, the father, taking the prayers, and Rev. C. W. Johnson of St. George's Church, Gore's Landing, the brother, serving as Chaplain to the Bishop. A goodly number of the clergy of the Deanery were also present.

The choir and the visiting clergy took their places in the chancel to the singing of the grand old hymn 'All People That on Earth Do Dwell,' while the Rector, Rev. G. H. Johnson, sat with the two church wardens in the body of the church.

The first part of the service is called the Institution, when the Bishop, sitting in his chair at the top of the chancel steps, called Mr. Johnson to him and presented him with the archbishop's letters of institution, or license, to conduct the services of the church, after which he presented him with the Bible and the Book of Common Prayer.

The second part of the service was the Induction, when the Bishop pronounced him duly inducted into the Incumbency of the parish, after which Mr. Johnson was given the keys of the church by the wardens, Mr. J. O. Little and Mr. J. E. Nesbitt, who by that act and word acknowledged him to be lawful incumbent of the parish.

After the singing of the hymn 'We Love Thee, O God,' Mr. Johnson was conducted by the Bishop and the two wardens, first to the Font, then to the Reading Desk, where the prayers are said; to the Lectern where the lessons are read, then to the pulpit, and last of all to the altar where Holy Communion is celebrated, and at each place appropriate admonitions in the office of each were stressed by the Bishop, the Incumbent answering to each 'I will so do, the Lord being my helper.'

It was a particularly solemn and impressive ceremony, and the address by Dr. F. H. Cosgrave, Provost and Chancellor of Trinity College, Toronto, based on the 12th chapter of Acts, was a fitting (Continued on Page 4, Col. 6)

SPECIALTY FACTORY EMPLOYEES SPONSOR NIGHT FOR TELEGRAM FUND

On Thursday evening, Feb. 13, the Office Specialty are lining up for a real old-time hockey match, two old and bitter rivals. Yes sir! It's the wood shop vs. the metal shop. This promises to be one of the hardest fought battles ever waged on Newmarket ice.

It's all in good sport and the entire proceeds will go to the Evening Telegram British War Victims' Fund.

Also on the bill will be two local organizations of high renown who are staging "The Ice Pollies," a programme of hilarious fun and merriment.

The purchase of a ticket admits you to the game, and also entitles you to participate in a draw, the winner of which will receive two free tickets to a professional game in the Maple Leaf Gardens, with transportation to and from Newmarket. Entire proceeds for Telegram British War Victims' Fund.

SOLDIERS WILL NOT BE QUARTERED IN DRILL SHED

Several hundred officers and men left the local military camp yesterday, and new arrivals to-day and to-morrow will bring the centre up to strength again. The report that the biggest camp yet would find men housed in the drill shed until suitable accommodation could be arranged is unfounded.

Capt. Dr. Boulding has been transferred to No. 2 District Depot, Toronto, as Senior Medical Officer, and his place has been taken by Capt. Weissgeber from North Bay.

ROCHE'S POINT PAYS TRIBUTE TO ESTEEMED RESIDENT

MRS. ALEX. WALINCK WAS HEAD OF MANY ORGANIZATIONS

Mourning by the entire community of Roche's Point and Sutton districts, Mrs. Annie McGeachie Walinck was laid to rest at Christ Church Cemetery, Roche's Point, on Wednesday last. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Forte and Rev. Gordon Lapp. Pallbearers were Hamilton McGeachie, William Messer, Gavin Watt, George Langridge, Frank Sherman and J. R. Hamilton.

Born in Scotland 43 years ago, she came to Canada as a child of twelve. For the past thirteen years she had been a resident of Roche's Point, where she took an active interest in the life of the community. She was a member of the United Church, Keswick, and Christ Church, Roche's Point; a past mistress of Island Grove L.O.B.A., a past matron of Sutton Chapter of the Eastern Star, president of Roche's Point Red Cross and past president of the Women's Institute.

The untimely passing of this truly great mother and neighbour is mourned by a wide circle of intimate friends who loved her kindly word and smile. Nothing was too much trouble for her willing heart and hands. Attesting to the high esteem in which she was held was the wealth of floral tributes from organizations and individuals who keenly felt her death.

To her bereaved husband Alec (Sandy) Walinck, the daughter Marina, and son Charles, this journal expresses deepest sympathy on behalf of its readers.

Remanded In Custody On Theft Charges

LAI'D TO REST

MRS. ALEX. WALINCK Roche's Point, head of many community organizations, whose untimely passing is deeply mourned.

$10 AND COSTS FOR CARELESS DRIVING

Ralph Charles of Jackson's Point who is now stationed at the Newmarket Military Training Camp, appeared at Newmarket Police Court on Tuesday on four charges of theft and was remanded in custody for one week. Bail was set at $1,000.

Four charges of having slot machines were adjourned for two weeks.

Harry Graves of Newmarket pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving and was fined $10 and costs or 10 days.

"On January 24, at about 10 p.m. I investigated an accident on Huron Street west," testified Constable Ronald Watt. "When I arrived there I found a car owned by Walter Graves of Newmarket and driven by Harry Graves, lying on its side facing north and south. From where the car was lying, I was able to trace a mark for a distance of 325 feet west. The centre of the road was dry but the sides were icy. Starting at the west end of this mark, it proceeded east for 180 feet where it went over a culvert and continued 135 feet and went over another culvert two feet six inches in height, and turned over. The accused stated that he was coming east towards Newmarket and met a car which blinded him. He didn't cut his speed at all and turned off, went over the culvert and was unable to stop."

"If you can't see, you should stop," warned Magistrate Woodlife. "You shouldn't drive blindly."

Reginald Cottle of Toronto, charged with speeding by Constable Ferguson, was fined $10 and costs.

John Green of the York County House of Refuge, charged with vagrancy by Chief Constable James Sloss, was remanded in custody for one week.

"I understand the accused is 69 years old, too young for the old age pension," stated the officer. "Yesterday he came to the police station, said he had had trouble with Mr. Spargue and that he wasn't going back. I tried to persuade him to go to Toronto, and went to the C.N.R. station. ## TO AUCTION PRIZE CALVES AND PIGS FOR WAR VICTIMS

The dance, draw and auction at Roy Middlebrook's on Tuesday evening, Feb. 17, for the Telegram British War Victims' Fund, promises to be one of the biggest events in the district this winter.

Already the auction list contains much prize stock, the sale of which should swell the fund considerably. Tickets are now on sale at 25c each, which not only admits to the dance, but gives the purchaser a chance to win an electric grill, electric toaster or a hamper of groceries.

Keep the date in mind and plan now to attend this big evening on February 17.

24 BELOW TUESDAY Newmarket and vicinity had the coldest day of the year Tuesday when reports from several sections put the low at 24. Monday morning it was around 20 below.

BOYS AGAIN WRITE OF SCARCITY OF CIGARETTES

Almost a full page of interesting letters appear this week from Newmarket boys overseas expressing their thanks for parcels received. You can assist in this good work by donating to the Soldiers' Comfort Fund.

January 10, 1942, England.

Angus C. West, Newmarket, Ont., Dear Ang: I don't know whether you will remember me or not, as it has been quite a few years since I lived in Newmarket. You may remember Bert Lloyd better, who used to have the vulcanizing place two doors from Billy Ball's hotel. Well I am his son Harry. You may be surprised to hear from me at this time, but you see Ang, in my unit there is a Lance Corporal by the name of Jack Withrow. I have known him for quite awhile, but not till recently did I know he used to work for the Era in Newmarket. He married Betty Galbraith. I saw Jack Galbraith just the other day, and I had a good talk with him. Over a year ago I ran into Ray Chapel who used to be Andy Davis' driver. He was in the hospital the same time I was. I have been over here two years next March, and what a time I have had. The English people really use us Canadians well. I have made a lot of friends over here. Still they are not like the friends back home Ang. Do you ever see anything of D'Arcy Miller?

This is certainly a lovely country; the scenery is really marvellous. As we do a lot of driving I see a lot of it. Have been in Wales and Scotland. But give me London any time for a good time. Boy you really can have some fun there. The bombings last fall (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

Dr. MacPherson Gives Talk On Hemorrhage

TORONTO DOCTOR HAS FRACTURED CHEEKBONE GUEST SPEAKER TUESDAY NEXT

Dr. MacPherson of Mount Albert gave a very interesting lecture on "Hemorrhage" at the fourth in a series of war emergency lectures at the Town Hall on Tuesday evening. He stated that the causes of hemorrhage were external wounds and internal disease, and gave his listeners a clear picture of the signs of hemorrhage, correct approach to the hemorrhage patient and general care.

Mrs. R. J. Rogers, R.N., then gave the following address:

Each loyal citizen may keep himself prepared to render a contribution to national health by study and by doing the job he is best fitted for to the best of his ability.

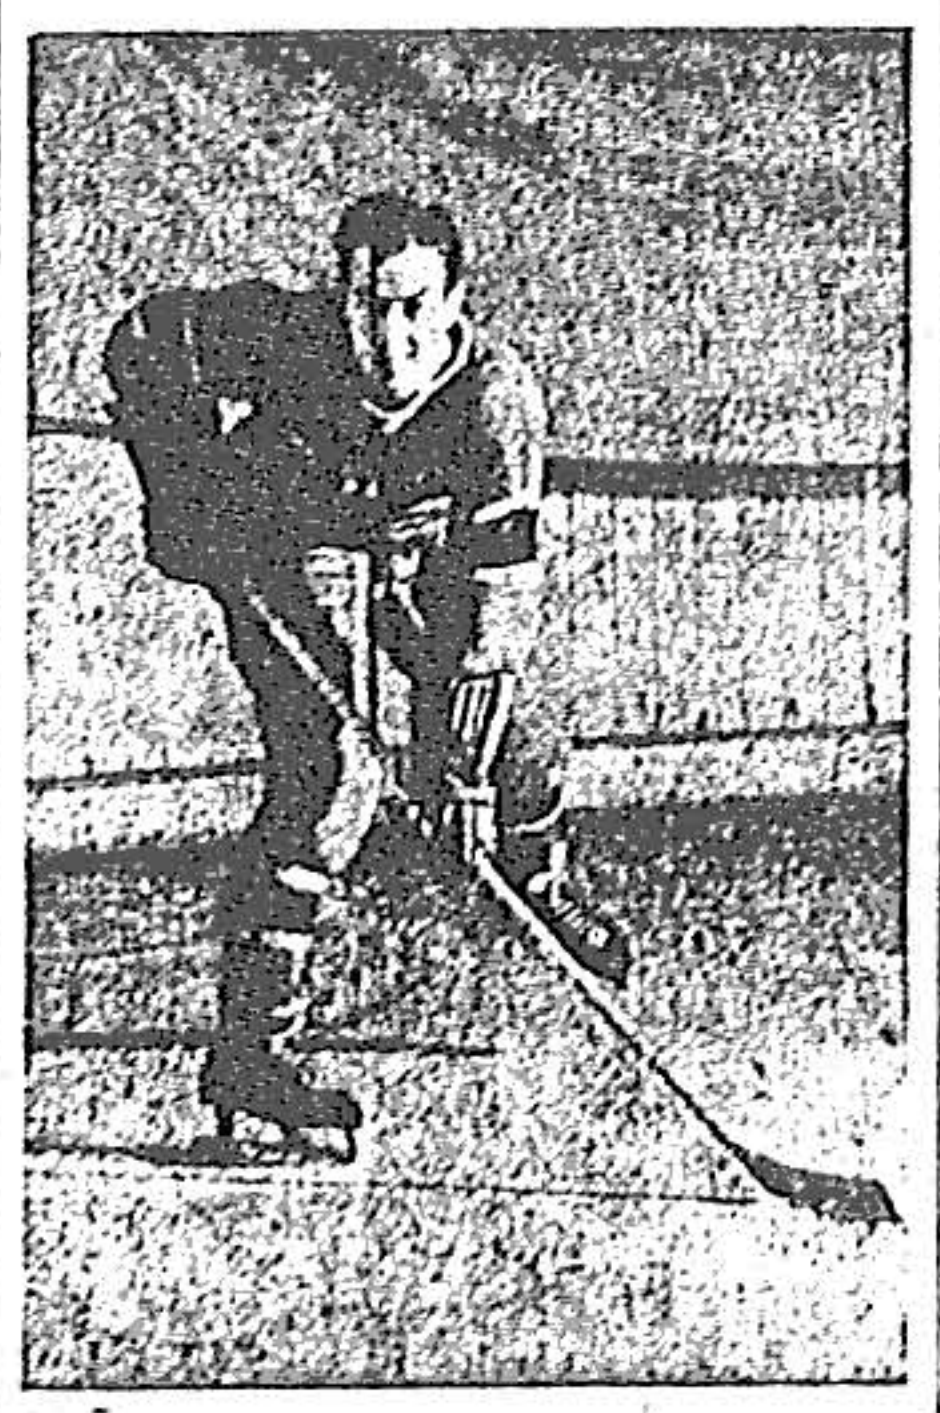

I attempt to help with the teaching of these classes of "Emergencies in War" not because I believe I can do it better than anyone else, there are a number of you in this audience who are better qualified to teach than I am. However, I realize the importance of this particular kind of knowledge, especially at this time. It happens to be the line of work for which I have had special training, therefore, I accept it as one of my war-time duties, and will do it to the best of my ability.

I hope that when this course is over, each one of you will have derived a certain amount of practical and useful knowledge that will be helpful in everyday life in promoting health and preventing sickness; as well as in adding you to meet an emergency and render first aid with a confidence that you are doing the right thing at the right time.

I feel that a little knowledge well learned should be of great value to every citizen in aiding with self-discipline to meet an emergency. Each class has been a unit in itself, yet they all fit together like a jigsaw puzzle. When each little part is fitted into place you get a complete picture. That is why it is important to attend these classes regularly.

In review, we have learned something of:

First Newmarket boy to be heard on an overseas broadcast, Sergt. Pilot Bill Pipher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pipher, Timothy street, sent the following message Sunday: "Hello Mom, Dad, Sis & Dot— I wish you could talk back. I'm enjoying my leave at Cornwall. I want to thank all my friends for the many Christmas parcels and cards. Postal service excellent. Love to all, Bill."

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY!

The big news of the week is from the home front where on Monday night Mayor Dales and his benchmen successfully attacked the town coffers for an amount of approximately $1,050. The vote on the question was close, the victory being by the narrow margin of one.

There is much to be said on both sides of the argument, but we feel that Messrs. Vale, Lundy and Bowser's "Kingly" attitude of letting the people decide, would be the proper procedure. On the other hand, there is no good reason why members of council should not be paid for their arduous task of seeing that the town is properly looked after for water, light, sidewalks and what have you. Many hours of their time when council is not in session, is taken up attending to these duties. The dog-catcher, the clerk, the printer, all down the line get their reward for services rendered, so why not our town fathers?

The argument that the small stipend will entice a rush of citizens for office at the end of the year is without merit. We doubt that any of our townsfolk ever wanted to be mayor or reeve for what they could get out of it. Deputy Vale's idea of cutting down the size of the body if the salary idea is to continue, is good, and will bear remembering at nomination time.

Thus by their own action Newmarket's 1942 council becomes the first municipal representatives in the history of the town to draw down salaries. If you don't like the idea, be prepared to offer your services gratis for '43.

NOSTRADAMUS MAY HAVE SOMETHING

The 1550 prognosticator Nostradamus, may not be so far astray in his predictions as some people say he is. The old boy told about the rise and fall of the League of Nations, the coming of Hitler and Mussolini, the construction and destruction of the Maginot Line, the emergence of Petain and the part a second American Expeditionary Force would play.

Condensed to our language Nosty's forecasts read something like this:

The eastern wall (Maginot Line) will be conquered by shining metal (gold and fifth columnist bribery), and the enemy shall be at the gates of Sirap (Paris spelled backwards) in seven days. He who is empty and vain (Mussolini) will come to rule a land raising a force in a march from Milan (Fascist march on Rome). But the Red policy (Communist) shall prevail.

After the Republic shall be seen no more (the fall of France) there shall be an aged leader (Petain). But the coming of an unsubdued leader is heralded (De Gaulle) who shall not succumb to the invader. He will be established in Africa, come to Italy and drive the invaders (Germany) back to their land. The Red, (Communism) will spread to the Republic (France) but in June, 1951, a Bourbon Prince will be crowned Henry the Fifth and peace will reign after a force from the land of the farthest west (second A.E.F.) lands at Chalons and fights a battle at Besis.—George Carver in Belleville Ontario Intelligencer.

GIVE VENT TO YOUR EMOTIONS

War as waged by a country like Canada is a strange combination of softheartedness, steely determination, and a false feeling of frustration.

We read about and reflect on Nazi atrocities. The Huns bomb old ladies and little children out of cities into the highways in order to choke the roads and impede the military movements of their enemies. Nazis and Japs seize innocent people as hostages and shoot them down when their fellow countrymen dare to oppose Nazi oppression.

These inhuman acts sicken us. Loving peace, we grow tender as we realize that but for geographical reasons, Canadian mothers and Canadian children might be similar victims of these bestial races.

Out of that softness of heart rises a great personal urge to stamp out these tyrants—to make the whole world free for decent human beings.

And then comes the moment when some in Canada feel frustrated.

That shouldn't be. Those of us left back in Canada can sling our dollars into the war effort with as much vigour as Canadian sailors, soldiers and airmen apply to the battle at the front. And those dollars are as important as the operations of the military forces overseas. Every dollar subscribed to the Victory Loan means another step forward towards the end of brutal tyranny.

Fight with your dollars as the Canadian boys fight with their machine guns. Don't hold back your fire. We are sure York County, as always, will do its full duty.

Rowdy Nick and Nora Charles (Bill Powell and Myrna Loy, to you!) are back in "Shadow of the Thin Man," gaily doing all the slap-happy things and stuff you've always loved them for. They dive into fascinating new mysteries in the latest of M-G-M's gay mystery series, opening Monday on the Strand screen. Asta, the pooch, has a whole new bag of tricks, and the kid in the three-cornered pants is a one-baby earthquake now, in the person of little Dickie Hall. Also featured are Barry Nelson, Donna Reed, Same Levene and Alan Baxter.

Those White Elephants you sent the Lions Club shows what really can be done with those unused or out-dated articles about the house. The substantial amount realized will look after several English kiddies for a year.

Every four persons who attend the Veterans' euchre tomorrow evening will make it possible to send three hundred cigarettes to a Newmarket boy overseas—and are those cigarettes looked for!

Among the strikes overlooked in the rush of war news was that "walkout" of 13 prisoners at the Kansas City jail in protest against the shortage of bread. They complained that they were not getting enough bread to make jelly sandwiches. Consider this country going to war to battle for liberty and democracy and all that, while our own suffering victims of the law are denied jelly sandwiches.

Imagine what Japan and Germany can make out of these horror tales from the United States. And then we wonder what's wrong with America. Well, there is the answer: He-men demanding their jelly sandwiches.—Miami Herald.

ECHOES FROM THE SANCTUARY

(This column is dedicated to the task of bringing a little of the church to those who are shut-in. Its main content will be the pith or kernel of one or other of the sermons given on the previous Sunday.)

The pastor was away from his pulpit last Sunday, concluding a week's preaching mission at the Congregational church in Kingston. Therefore, this will be an echo from the Sunday morning service conducted there.

A few weeks ago, the writer was looking through the pages of a magazine, and came across a verse of a popular song. The words were these:

"I'll walk beside you through the coming years,
Through the days of cloud and sunshine, joy and tears,
And when the great call comes, the sunset gleams,
I'll walk beside you to the land of dreams."

Now many popular songs are just popular rubbish. And even about this one, there is a certain saccharin sweetness which makes it too luscious to be wholesome. Perhaps that is because we see so many instances in which one human being has promised to be true to another in days of joy and cloud, of sorrow or sunshine, until the end of days, and then we have seen them fall far short of their promises.

But the thought occurred to me—"Put those words on to the lips of our Lord, and they become possible." Actually, we do not have to put them on His lips, for He really spoke them although not in the same phraseology. He said: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." And He said: "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee, and through the floods, they shall not overflow thee." Still another thought came that He would walk beside us on life's highway just as He walked with two disciples as they travelled from Jerusalem to Emmaus, and "Although His form we cannot see, we will know and feel that He is near."

Those two disciples walked the Emmaus road with saddened hearts and countenances, but when Jesus drew near, He gave them "The oil of joy for mourning, and beauty for ashes." If we would have Him walk along with us, we would do well to study those disciples, and seek to discover what it was in them that brought Him nigh.

First, let us note the words "Jesus Himself drew near." Why did He pick out these two men for His gracious words and presence? There were thousands of others to whom He might have joined Himself. Well, as I see it, it was simply because from the bottom of their hearts, they wanted Him. The awful and horrifying truth is that most people do not want Jesus with them. Their lives are based on a pattern too far removed from His, and His company would embarrass them. Sin in a life will keep the Master away, for "His eyes are purer than to behold evil." But the repentant sinner may always claim His presence.

Then, notice that "He went With them." As they journeyed, He opened to them the Scriptures, and their hearts burned within them. It is precious to have contact with Christ. It is thrice blessed to have Him stay with us. Again we ask, why did He continue with them? Again we answer that it was because they wanted Him. If the Scriptures had been an unwelcome subject to them, He would have sought other company. But they eagerly heard the exposition of God's Word, and their hearts were warmed. If we want to have the Master with us continually, then let us continually turn to, yes, devour His Word.

Finally, we notice that he went all the way. They lived in Emmaus, and right to Emmaus He went. Our citizenship is in heaven. That is our home. And He will go with us all the way if we want Him. It always comes back to our own desire. God leaves it up to us. Those disciples did not know it was Jesus. But they asked this stranger to come and eat their food, and abide in their home. And Jesus said: "Inasmuch as ye do it unto the least of these, ye do it unto me." If we want Him with us, let us be ever ready to minister to His children, and that will be the proof that we want Him. He will draw near—and go with us—and go all the way.

ARTHUR GREER.

"Dad, it says here that a certain man was a financial genius. What does that mean?"
"That he could earn money faster than his family could spend it."

Teacher: "And where on the map do we find England?"
Johnny: "Please, ma'am, Mr. MacTavish says there isn't such a country. England is just the southern part of Scotland!"

GOVERNMENT LEASES PLANT IN AURORA VACATED BY FLEURY-BISSELL

The Dominion Government have leased the Fleury-Bissell plant on Wellington St., which has been vacant for some time, and took possession on Monday.

Engineers from Military District No. 2 are in charge of the remodeling and repairing of the buildings and a number of men are now engaged in the work, the cost of which will be borne by the Government.

We understand the buildings will be used by the Army Ordnance Corps and it is expected that a number of men will be stationed here. Machinery is being installed to be used in repair work, and part of the buildings will be used for storage purposes.

The Government have taken over all the buildings, including the building formerly occupied by the Grover Shoe Company as well as the foundry part owned by the Fleury-Bissell Company of Elora.

We understand the rental of the plant is sufficient to pay the taxes and remunerate the company.

NORTH YORK TEMPERANCE FEDERATION CONVENTION, UNITED CHURCH, NEWMARKET, FEB. 13, 1942

Since all temperance people are thankful for the success in the recent campaign against beverage rooms in Newmarket, it is appropriate to celebrate by honoring this municipality with the convening of North York Temperance Federation's Convention here this year.

A full turnout of our county's residents to this convention will be another practical manifestation of the appreciation of the adjoining municipalities for this firm stand of the voters of Newmarket for sobriety and economy.

That a public speaking contest is an important feature of the program, is most opportune in view of the prominence in Mayor Dr. Dales' 1942 inaugural address of the need for more encouragement of development of public speaking.

It is desired that personal or school work in the line of temperance posters, scrap-books and experiments may be brought for display during the convention to add to interest and helpfulness in future work for temperance. Committees meet at 3 p.m. Convention session at 4 p.m. Address by Rev. Dr. DeMille, sec. of Ont. Temp. Fed. Supper served by U.C. ladies for nominal fee. Evening meeting for oratorical contest and post rally at 8 p.m.

SUGGEST WORK FOR JAPANESE AT FARMING

Move 25,000 Internees Inland to Relieve Labor Shortage on Ontario Farms, York County Told

Between 25,000 and 28,000 interned Japanese who are being moved inland from the western provinces of the Dominion, may be placed on Ontario farms to relieve the acute farm labor shortage, W. M. Cockburn, York County Agricultural Representative, told York County Council Friday.

"Negotiations are now under way with the Federal authorities to use Japanese workmen at these farm operations at which it is feasible to put gangs of men to work. Crop harvesting and the operation of beet farms are two of the projects under consideration," he said. "It was learned from a provincial government labor official that one sugar-beet farm near Chatham has informed the Federal authorities that it could use 1,000 men, but only for a four-month period. The periodic nature of the work at which these men might be employed creates the problem of not only finding suitable employment for the men during the winter months but with feeding and housing them during periods when they would be unemployed. It would also be necessary for them to be suitably clothed against the rugged Ontario winter."

"Ontario farmers are finding it almost impossible to cope with the increasing labor shortage and such an influx of labor would enable them not only to bring their farms up to pre-war production levels, but would materially aid in the prevention of a food shortage in Canada," Mr. Cockburn declared. It was pointed out to council that in an adjoining county 60,000 to 70,000 acres of the most productive land in Ontario was not being cultivated this year because farmers were unable to find sufficient help.

York County Council passed a resolution seeking an increase in the price of farm products sufficient to enable farmers to pay a satisfactory wage. It also sought to have provision made for an adequate supply of experienced farm help in an effort to obtain maximum production. Farmer members of the council declared that it was impossible to compete in the open labor market with the wages offered by industrial concerns in the larger centres. Mr. Cockburn told of one York County farmer who offered what he termed the "ridiculous" wage of $100 per month and all found and was still unable to obtain experienced farm help.

Reeve Robert Alnsworth of Mimico, asked the agricultural committee to include in its resolution a stated monthly salary for farm help.

"If you ask the government to raise the price of farm products it is only fair that you should state the wage you intend to pay," he declared.

Reeve James Rennie of Markham, declared that inasmuch as there was a great fluctuation from day to day in the prices obtained for farm products, it was impossible to set any arbitrary wage schedule. "The farm labor wages are paid on a supply and demand basis and I do not think you can ever get away from that basis. The present labor shortage is an emergency created by the war condition and farmers are not willing to tie themselves down to a standard wage for all time," he concluded.

POT POURRI

By Golden Glow

Day after day the sun gains more power, and already housewives are planning their annual upheaval so as to get housecleaning out of the way before the fine weather arrives. For, once the sunny days come the whole world seems to move out-of-doors! We all have our own pet avocation, our hobby, shall we say? What pleasures and interests one person would have no charm whatever for another. Where one person would ask nothing better than to go hunting with a camera, a second person would think that rather tame; they would prefer a gun; a fox hunt for them would spell enjoyment! Where many of us delight in a garden, and ask nothing better than to watch things grow, that again would give no pleasure to a good many; it would be simply drudgery! Where one person finds intense enjoyment in a spin in a speed-boat, a third person couldn't be persuaded to set foot in one, let alone take a swift trip over a sunlit lake, and as for taking such a trip for enjoyment, they could never understand in the remotest degree the fascination of either a speed-boat or an aeroplane. No doubt even a gentle motor ride through the woods in the country would be too much for them, for there are certain people so constituted that in imagination they push the car up every hill and hold back on every descent. If they are going to meet a car, they hold their breath till safely past, being certain they are about to collide. Every corner they go around they lean over as if they have to balance the car or as if it had to go around the curve on two wheels. Now, what I am up to—as usual getting away from my subject, but we all know these timid creatures—you take them for a boat ride and they sit bolt upright, holding to the two sides of the boat and I bet you couldn't pry their fingers loose with a crowbar. They see no beauty in the scenery along shore, if anyone so much as moves one of their arms or feet they are ready to scream for fear the boat heels over. It is the same kind of person who is a wet blanket at a picnic—an ant may take a nibble at the icing of a cake, a fly might drop in her tea—maybe the tea by some mischance should boil. (Horror!) And she will make some caustic remark to that effect! She looks at the rest who are thoroughly enjoying everything, and has a very superior expression on her face! If anyone's hair becomes disarranged she'll fix it for them—she never gets hot, or mused, or untidy, and neither does she ever keep up her end in helping with the work—she doesn't sunburn, perhaps, and has little sympathy for those who do. It is long years since I rubbed shoulders with a paragon of this sort, but I have known specimens, and what a killjoy they can be! Thanks be my family and my relatives, and friends all thoroughly enjoy out-of-doors, as do I—and many and many a grand outing we have had! I hope I never grow too feeble or too old for picnics! I love them!

However, it looks as if we shall have to go back to the old-fashioned picnics, if gas is to be so scarce that joy-rides must be cut out entirely. Well, and why not—it will not hurt us—only this, do not think you have to cut out all innocent enjoyments of that sort—I really think it helps keep up the morale.

For away down deep in our hearts we know there is a war to be won and we are all ready and willing to do our part. If our part does not entail going overseas, or into a munitions plant, or joining any war organization, or anything but keep our homes on an even keel—keep our church work up to standard, including, of course, our Red Cross efforts, let us see to it that we do that part well and faithfully, and if an opportunity comes to us this summer to arrange an outing or a picnic, we have places near our town where deep pleasure and enjoyment can be had. You do not have to go miles away to enjoy yourself—you do not need to indulge in too expensive a menu, either! The grand out-of-doors, and fellowship with others, is often sufficient. I have enjoyed myself on some friend's lawn, or in any of our lovely woods near to town, as in some expensive summer resort or in some place it took half a day to reach!

Nowadays we can carry a Thermos Jug with plenty of tea or coffee—oh! and here I must interrupt myself again—for I heard over the radio that the American soldiers, who have arrived in Northern Ireland do not think much of the coffee the way the Irish make it—and that took me back to my school days when we used to spend our summer holidays in Muskoka, and always at the place where we went there were several American families from New Orleans and they always brought their own coffee and drip coffee-pot and made their own—as no doubt Canadians are like the Irish—we don't know how to make coffee to the American taste!

But here's what I am wondering, and upon my word I do not see why somebody with ability along the line couldn't make a success of it. Is there anyone in town with ability and time, of course, a bit of capital for the initial lay-out, who could run boats for hire on Fairy Lake (or as we always used to say, "The Pond?") In my young days I recall, though I'm afraid rather vaguely, a wharf and boat-houses down on the shore behind the waterworks, and many a nice boat ride I've had there, for you could then—and I don't know any reason why not now—to go upstream to "Pearson's Crossing" and to the "Black Bridge." I'll never forget my last boat ride up the creek past that beautiful row of willow trees along the bank on the homestead farm now occupied by Mr. Edgar Dennis. I am sure there are many who, on a summer's afternoon or evening, would enjoy a quiet little boat ride right here in our nice old town of Newmarket. I'm always advocating making use of our natural facilities, but nobody seems to see it through my eyes. I know Fairy Lake could be a wonderful asset to our town if only someone took hold of it. It has possibilities—or am I wrong? Won't somebody please write a letter to the paper and say what they think about it? If we have to stay home, as we most likely will this summer, let us look ahead and see what we can do to make it more attractive and pleasant for everybody. Help out, citizens—let us, who must stay at home, make Newmarket a specially nice town in which to live, and keep it nice for when our boys come back after the war. An asset like Fairy Lake is worth considering—why not?

MILITARY MAN WRITES OF HONG KONG TRAGEDY

Explains Difference Between Garrison Duty and Service in Active Theatre of War

The following letter which appeared in Saturday's Globe and Mail will be of interest to many of our readers as it is written by a former Aurora resident, Major-General J. H. Emsley.

To the Editor of The Globe and Mail: According to Colonel Ralston, the Canadian Government, under arrangements with Great Britain, despatched two battalions in a fast troop ship to Hong Kong for garrison duty, and in addition sent 140 partially trained men as first reinforcements. Apparently, too, some battalion transport and other war vehicles were also despatched by slow cargo boat to the same destination.

When battalions are despatched overseas to an active theatre of war, it is imperative to include well-trained men as reinforcements to replace casualties as they occur. When, however, battalions are despatched for garrison duty to a non-active theatre, it is quite reasonable and customary to despatch partially trained men as reinforcements on the assumption that there will be plenty of time to train these men under battalion supervision and control, and there is admittedly no better type or form of training. No one was aware at the time these battalions were despatched from Canada that war with Japan was so imminent, and no blame can therefore be attached to the military authorities for the disaster which subsequently followed. In fact, it was extremely fortunate that these soldiers even arrived at Hong Kong safely under the nose of the Japanese Fleet.

Furthermore, battalions proceeding overseas for garrison duty are not as a rule equipped with transport because they are stationary and not mobile units, and in the narrow, confined streets of Hong Kong, where rickshaws and pushcarts are used, and in the surrounding country, where steep rocks abound, I fail to see of what value the standard battalion transport trucks, etc., would have been, even if they had been on time. It can, however, be reasonably assumed that this transport, etc., was sent to complete the battalions in every detail in case they were to be subsequently employed elsewhere as mobile units.

Colonel Ralston's statement regarding the Hong Kong incident should be regarded, therefore, as entirely reasonable and satisfactory, and the matter closed in so far as any official inquiries or political criticisms are concerned, and our attention centred on war matters of a far more pressing nature and gravity, such, for example, as the immediate and future measures we propose to take to meet the ever-increasing seriousness of the war situation.

J. H. Emsley.

Toronto. Major-General (Ret.)

 “Green has been an inmate of the Home since the 12th of January, coming from East York Township,” testified Ernest Sprague, superintendent of the Home. “He was in jail down there and the clerk of East York arranged to have him sent up here. On the 21st of January he left and said he was going to the jail to collect money for his clothes. On the 22nd they called me from Brampton and said accused was in jail there, and I had to send down for him. He gets into a fracas out there, but we don't think anything of that. You can't always agree.”
 “Why don't you behave out there?” asked Crown Attorney Mathews.
 “I don't like it,” replied accused. “They don't treat us good enough to suit me. If they will give me a job firing at $10 a week, I'll take it and get my own stuff to eat. I'm 33 years old and can't get the pension. I don't want anybody to jump on me and call me all sorts of names. I'll fight till I die, that's the kind of man I am.”
 “Have you been in trouble before?”
 “I've been in lot of trouble before, and have always come out of it without a black eye. I won't go back to this Home. I'd like to go to Toronto and get a job.”
 The accused produced two slips of paper, the one showing that he was born in 1876, and the other showing that he was born in 1858.
 “If I let you go now, Mr. Green, you might freeze to death,” said Magistrate Woodliffe. “I'm not going to turn you loose. Come back next week when you have decided what you want to do.”

BRIDE-TO-BE RECEIVES PRESENTATION
 A very pleasant evening was spent at the Friends paragon Monday, Feb. 2, when the members of the Christian Endeavour gathered together to pay homage to their pianist, Miss Thelma Thornton, on her forthcoming marriage.
 Lloyd Gilkes rendered a solo, “I Love You Truly,” also a quartette consisting of Mrs. Tess Gilkes, Lloyd Gilkes, Miss Doris Harden and Lorne Keffer gave an excellent number. Games were played and refreshments were served.
 On behalf of the members a very appropriate address was read by Marie Gilkes, the president.
 Miss Thornton was presented with a lovely lace cloth by Miss Doris Harden, the secretary. At the close of the evening Rev. Burton Hill offered a prayer on behalf of the bride and groom-to-be, for their future happiness and welfare.

NEWMARKET PUBLIC SCHOOLS RECEIVE COMMENDATION OF INSPECTOR

High commendation of Newmarket's public schools was given by Inspector C. A. Lapp in a report presented by Principal H. A. Jackson at the inaugural meeting of the public school board in the council chambers on Monday evening last week.
 “I found all three schools functioning in a highly satisfactory manner,” Mr. Lapp wrote. “The organization is effective in that the classes are well balanced and no teacher has more pupils than she can teach effectively. . . . In fact, the administration of your schools is efficient in every respect.”
 “The teaching is, on the whole, very satisfactory, and some is excellent. The pupils are proficient in their work. On the whole, the quality in all subjects is above average. The classes in home economics and in manual training are following suitable courses under teachers who understand the needs of public school pupils.”
 The pupils reveal a splendid spirit in all three schools. It would be difficult to find pupils displaying a finer attitude towards their teachers and their work.
 “Your principal, the assistant principals, and the teachers are co-operating to ensure the maximum of efficiency in all departments of the schools. Their enthusiasm and energy are certain to result in continued success.”
 The fine condition of the accommodation and the extent of the equipment indicate the careful attention which you are giving to the needs of the schools. However, I should like to direct your attention to the following:
 Summarized, the inspector's suggestions were: “1. The primary reading material is not quite adequate.”
 “2. The double desks in the Grade 1 classroom of the Alexander Muir school are a distinct handicap to teacher and pupils. They encourage talking and copying. In a modern graded school such desks are incongruous. More modern chair desks or tables and chairs would enable teacher and pupils to work more happily and successfully.”
 “3. Twelve or fifteen kindergarten chairs for each primary classroom (one in each of the three schools) would enable the teacher to instruct her pupils in groups, and to maintain a closer, more individual contact, which is so necessary in primary work.”
 “4. In grades 1, 2 and 3 more handwork materials would improve the course in art.”
 “5. Mrs. Seldon is including music appreciation in her courses for the senior classes. She has provided an electric phonograph at her own expense, but finds the lack of proper outlets a handicap. As this is an important part of the course in music, it would be true economy to install outlets where necessary.”
 After the 1941 board had concluded its business for last year, W. H. Eves, the chairman, asked Principal H. A. Jackson to act as chairman for the election of a new chairman for 1942. Mr. Eves nominated Frank Bothwell, who declined the honor because of the pressure of his business duties. Mr. Eves said that while it was a satisfaction to be re-elected chairman for the eighth or ninth time, he had always felt that the chairmanship should be passed around.
 Dr. J. C. R. Edwards, who later in the evening presented his own resignation as a member of the board, introduced the new member, Mrs. Edwards. Dr. Edwards said he thought that the board should be made up of three men and three women.
 “Men are more far-sighted and better in an administrative capacity, but I think perhaps women see community needs more clearly,” Mrs. Edwards said.
 The board reappointed Mrs. O. P. Hamilton as school attendance officer, reappointed Miss Nellie Holladay to the library board for three years, appointed Mrs. Harvey Graham to the library board for one year, reappointed Fred Chantler to the high school board for one year, and reappointed L. Pritchard, a member of the board, secretary-treasurer.
 The board took steps to implement the various recommendations of Inspector Lapp, including securing information about the cost of replacing the double desks in the Alexander Muir primary classroom. Considering a request from the teaching staff for a cost of living (climax to an unusual and inspiring service.

 Before the recessional hymn “The Church's One Foundation,” the Rector invited those present to a reception in the Parish Hall, and with very few exceptions, all accepted the invitation, and were presented to Bishop Beverley, the members of Mr. Johnson's family, and the visiting clergy.
 The ladies of the church had prepared for even more than the two hundred who gathered in the hall after the service, the tables looking particularly inviting with the silver candelabra with thin, tall lighted candles, and shining silver tea and coffee urns, silver and crystal sandwich servers piled high with an assortment of fancy sandwiches, and an attractive array of condiments tastefully arranged, plates of cut cake, and tarts, and small fancy cakes, and roses in silver vases.
 The young women's and young men's Bible classes served the guests, while Capt. Cox, chaplain and padre of the Newmarket Military Camp was with the clergy in the chancel for the induction service.
 The beautiful flowers on the altar, deep pink chrysanthemums, were placed there by Mr. George Thompson in memory of his wife, Verna, it being the anniversary of her passing.

MOVIES PARADE

Gene Autry's newest picture, “Down Mexico Way,” deals with Gene's efforts in exposing a criminal gang who are attempting to stage a false “world premiere” of a motion picture. The film goes into the Strand theatre for a two-day run starting Friday.
 Billy Lee, who has a starring role in “Reg'lar Fellers,” on the same program, is, at eleven years, one of the youngest recognized dance band leaders in the country.
 William Powell and Myrna Loy have again assumed their famous characterizations as Nick and Nora Charles, with Nick, Jr., and Asta rounding out the now famous “Thin Man” family in “Shadow of the Thin Man,” coming Monday to the Strand.
 Mixing the hilarious domestic life of Nick and Nora with another fascinating murder case, the latest “Thin Man” story gives Detective Charles a difficult problem to solve, with no less than three corpses to deal with. Nora, as usual, tries to be the helpful little woman and, as usual, only adds to his sleuthing problems. Nick, Jr., now walking and talking, proves to be a young tyrant, and Asta has added some new tricks to those which have delighted audiences in the past.
 Roger Pryor, who is co-starring with Cecilia Parker in “Gambling Daughters,” Monday at the Strand theatre, is the only film star ever to fly an experimental warplane from coast to coast.
 Headed by that immortal of modern music, Gershwin, the names of America's top tunesmiths adorn the credit list of the new musical, “Lady Be Good,” starring Eleanor Powell, Ann Sothern and Robert Young, opening Wednesday at the Strand theatre.
 “Lady Be Good” boasts two Gershwin compositions, namely “Lady Be Good” and “Fascinating Rhythm.” In addition there is the popular Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II number, “The Last Time I Saw Paris,” and also the new compositions, “You'll Never Know” and “Your Words and My Music.”
 Aimed to please every type of audience, “Lady Be Good” combines excellent story material along with laughs, melody and dancing.
 Hitting a new stride as well is Ann Sothern, whose “Maise” characterizations skyrocketed her to stardom.
 “So Ends Our Night,” the stirring love story which unfolds in present-day Europe, starring Frederic March and Margaret Sullivan, is on the same program.

HAD DOCTOR NEPHEW AT HONG KONG
 Among the Canadians at Hong King was a nephew of J. B. Bastedo, principal of the Newmarket High School. Capt. Jack Reid of Toronto.
 Dr. Reid, who is the only son of Harry E. Reid, vice-president and manager of Canadian Linotype Ltd., attended University of Toronto Schools and later obtained his B.A. and M.D. degrees from Toronto University, following which he spent two years in Toronto General Hospital, and a year practicing in Vancouver.
 Last summer he returned to Toronto to join the R.C.A.M.C., and after spending some time in Ottawa left last fall for Hong Kong. No word of his fate has been received by his parents.

ANNUAL HOSPITAL MEETING
 The annual meeting of the York County Hospital Association will be held on Monday, Feb. 9, at 8 p.m., in the Council Chambers, in the Town of Newmarket, for the purpose of receiving annual reports, election of three directors and the transacting of any other necessary business.
 All interested in the hospital are invited to be present.

Major Macpherson will have something of interest for everyone interested in “Civilian Defence. Dr. S. J. Boyd will also speak on “Burns.”

have slowed things up considerably, but there is still lots left yet. More than Jerry will ever destroy in a few years. I have experienced a few air raids and believe me Ang you have no idea what it is like; words cannot explain.

The morale of these English people is grand; never a murmur do you hear from any of them, and believe me some of them have had some pretty tough breaks. Lose everything they ever owned in a matter of seconds. Have seen it happen more than once. But they are still as determined as ever. "Carry On" is their motto, and believe me they sure show it. The people over home can not praise these people too much, believe me.

The only thing I find hard to get used to is the way they ration things; money doesn't matter; you can not buy what you want. The amount some families get to eat, you'd wonder how they could manage. Cigarettes are really tough to get; you are just lucky if you get any, that's all. And matches, you may as well try to find a needle in a haystack as try and buy any sometimes.

Well Ang, I guess I will close for now, hoping you answer this letter. Hope you have a very, very prosperous New Year.

Dear Friends:

I have just returned back off a 48-hour pass which I spent in London, and to my surprise I received your grand Christmas gift parcel. Only those who have been over here can tell you what it is like to receive mail and parcels from home. Thanks a million, and I cannot find words to express myself.

I had a very good time in London and went mostly sightseeing. I was to see Madam Tausaud's Wax Works, St. Paul's Cathedral, Big Ben, Buckingham Palace, Hyde Park, London Bridge, London Castle and Tower Bridge. We went down through E. L. and this part had been very hard hit but the people's spirit is high and all they want now is revenge.

Thanks again for everything, and to all those who helped. I remain, now and forever,

Brownie.

Newmarket Veterans,

Dear Sirs:

Thank you very kindly for the parcel which I received in good condition. Also cigarettes which have come from you in the past year. For all your kindness I thank you from the bottom of my heart, not forgetting those who made it possible. Hoping some day in the near future to thank you personally, I remain,

Respectfully yours,
Cpl. Smith, T. H.

Somewhere in England,

Newmarket Veterans' Assoc.,
Newmarket, Ontario.
Gentlemen,—

I received your parcel to-day and I assure you it was greatly appreciated. Unfortunately it didn't reach me in the condition it left you, as it was "salvaged from the sea."

The cheese, dates, cake, icing and another package which was probably spoiled by the water, but everything was O.K. and very acceptable. In fact I wore one pair of the socks on a bombing trip this afternoon.

I haven't met any of the other lads from Newmarket, but I hope they are getting along as well as I am. I like England so well that I won't be in any hurry to return home after Britain wins the war.

I find the work quite interesting, but unfortunately I can't tell you anything as to the nature of it. Ours is a much different type of war than you are accustomed to. There are no bugles blowing, no exhilaration, we just have to make certain adjustments on instruments to send death and destruction hurtling below. It sure is a great feeling to hear all the bombs bursting on (?) or near the target at night.

Well, I'll have to close for now, so thanks again for the parcel.

Sincerely,
George Germain.

Scotland, Jan. 5, 1942.

Dear Vets:

I have just received another of your dandy parcels and am more appreciative than ever. You certainly seem to know what to send us chaps over here. And I honestly thank one and all, we are very grateful. I also wish to thank the ladies who knit the socks and all the people who partook in the packing of these boxes. I received mine in the best of shape.

Right now up here the weather is pretty cold. For the past two days there has been quite a lot of wind and snow. This weather certainly makes all the boys up here think of our Canadian winters. And we certainly look forward to the day when we will be homeward bound.

Our men are, as usual, carrying on with their logging operations and military training. It is certainly

"WHAT SHALL WE DO NEXT?"

For Release 14-1-1942

Off parade hours are few and far between in a Canadian Army training hard to fight with other soldiers of the "Grand Alliance" and what to do with them is important. Hence the discussion pictured above as two young soldiers, wearing the new off parade uniform of smart jacket and slacks plan an evening of relaxation.

To be issued to all Canadian soldiers in about six weeks the new uniform is a smart khaki serge. The jacket is opened at the neck to show collar and brown tie and belted at the waist. Two large patch pockets at the sides add to its smartness. Black leather low shoes are worn with the "walking out dress" and a "swagger stick" is carried.

ainly interesting work. Even the local people around here are quite amazed at our high-speed methods. But they are much more amazed at our camp. To you who were over here before it would be quite a surprise. We are only one company quite isolated from any village or town. Yet we have electric lights all over. In our huts we have hot and cold running water. All our shower baths have mixer valves to regulate the water. We also have a small camp hospital to cover our camp and another one some miles away. So, all in all, we are quite comfortable. In fact, this doesn't seem much like active service at all. We had a much tougher life at the first militia camp I went to with the York Rangers. However, we have our own tradesmen and they certainly seem to know their job and are doing everything in their power to make it more comfortable. There is only one thing that the veterans with us here say reminds them of the old days and that is the food. I guess army food will never change, but I guess we get our share of rations over here.

Well, I must close now, once more thanking you. I remain,
Thankfully yours,

Dear Ang:

I am writing to thank you for the paper, it sure is a pleasure to get it as the news from home is very interesting. The place we are in is quite different from Canada. We are in the tropics and having quite some time to keep cool. The population of the island is nearly all black, and not much like the folks at home.

Our duties here are rather important and of which we are not allowed to say much about. We have done considerable training since coming here and should be prepared to give a good account of ourselves should the need arise here.

I will close, thanking you again for sending the paper, and give my regards to the folks at home.

Yours truly,

Dear Sirs:

I wish to thank you and all those who contributed to make up the swell parcel which I received from you the other day. I'm sure I won't go hungry for quite a spell now, and as for socks—they fit perfectly. I wish to thank the Newmarket Women's Institute for supplying the stockings. I'm sure that if the other fellows in the service are as well looked after as I am there'll be no downheartedness and the Newmarket boys will come through with flying colors. Once again, thanks a million.

Dear Sirs:

Just a few lines to say I received your greatly appreciated parcel on January 7th and was certainly very glad to receive it for it is a great pleasure for me to think that you people at home are doing as much, if not more, to help us in the war than we are, and everything was surely appreciated. The socks, boy, were just grand, and for the cake, you may thank them all for me for the lovely things they have sent. I'm sure any person that received a parcel like mine from your society surely appreciated it just the same as I did myself. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and all for the lovely boxes. Thanks a million and the best of luck to you all. I will say cheerio and all the best.

Yours truly,

Sirs:

I have received your smokes O.K. Thanks one and all a million times. Sincere wishes to you all for the New Year. May God bring peace and happiness to you.

Many thanks for your parcel of cigarettes which I received to-day, and they sure were darn good. From

Dear Sirs:

Just a line to let you know that I received your parcel intact and was very pleased to hear from you. A parcel these days really means a great deal, especially around Christmas time. I dare say that we over here in the services get just as much kick out of a parcel as the children do when they have their tree on Christmas Day. It really is fun. The parcel that I received from you is the first one that I have been fortunate enough to receive from Newmarket, with the exception of my own family. The Boy Scouts sent me three hundred cigarettes which arrived the next day, and I am very grateful to them.

I want to thank all the people who so kindly and willingly spent their time and money and helped to make it possible for you to remember me at Christmas time. I wish them all the luck possible in the New Year. Give my best regards to the boys and wish them all the best. Bottoms up, I remain,

Dear Friends:

I received your Christmas parcel last night. It was a little late but not untimely. Everything in the box was perfect and I want to thank you all sincerely for everything. It really helps a lot to be remembered at this time of the year when we are so far from home. I haven't forgotten all my friends at home and, honestly, I have more friends sending to me than I ever realized I had.

There is not very much news to tell, but we are just waiting for a chance to show what we came over here for. I am in the very best of health and I hope this letter finds all my friends the same. Thanking you all again for the swell parcel and wishing you all the very best in the New Year, I remain,

Dear Veterans:

Received your lovely Christmas parcel yesterday. It had been a long time getting here, but arrived in splendid condition. The weather here is certainly swell so far, bright and clear, but quite chilly in the evenings. I am fine and hope that this letter finds all concerned the same. I wish to thank you Veterans and the people for the splendid way in which you Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary have looked after us over here in the past year. The cigarettes have been especially a real treat. Thanking you all, and the Express-Herald for everything, I remain,

Newmarket Veterans' Ass'n.:

Hello! Hello! Hello! Scotland calling, not to broadcast but thank you for the two swell parcels. I really must apologize for not acknowledging your first parcel before as it has been almost a month since it arrived. The parcel that came to-day was marked "salvaged from the sea." It couldn't have had much of a ducking though as all that was spoiled was the malted chocolate. If you can find Wick on the map you will see that we are almost at land's end, in the northern part of Scotland.

We had a very nice Xmas considering circumstances, but I must admit it was the quietest that I can remember. I want to thank one and all of you for the parcels. Wishing everyone their most successful year,

Sincerely,

Dear Veterans:

Received your most welcome bag. It was really swell. Everything was fine and the socks and things really come in handy when you are at sea. I am out most of the time now and we are getting some pretty rough weather. Am sorry if this has not been acknowledged before. I sent a letter to Mr. Alf. Smith but on receiving word from home I find it has not arrived. However, I wish you all the best of luck thanking you one and all.

The Express-Herald:

Dear Sirs:

Again I take up my pen to convey to all my friends of Newmarket my sincere thanks for cigarettes from the Boy Scouts, a parcel from the War Veterans' Association, and parcels and Christmas greetings from all my friends.

You all have given to your boys convincing proof that we were much in your thoughts at this season of the year. You also gave us the opportunity not only of indulging in rations unheard and undreamed of in army menu, but of sharing with our less fortunate mates those treats contained in your parcels.

It was my privilege to spend Christmas with relatives, in Romley, Cheshire, where I was treated, in the full sense of the term, as one of their own here. I became fully acquainted with all the joys of an English Christmas, and was, by a miracle of providence, the lucky participant in a Christmas dinner of fowl, which I enjoyed thoroughly.

As we reclined in our huts while the Old Year passed into eternity, many of us recalled where we were the year previous. Most of us were in our own homes and as the Old Year approached the zero hour, there was a silence which signified how much we would have loved to have been with our loved ones. To cover up and disguise our homesickness, many fantastical suggestions were made to evolve some way to overcome the distance separating us from you. One suggested that we each take up positions on England's shores, equidistant from each other, and after breaking the anchor holding the island to the earth's axis, with the use of our propels it across the Atlantic.

In the following poem, of my own composition, I have tried to express what I know we all feel as we join with you in our united efforts for peace.

We're on the rock-strewn path of war,
Marching on with forward steps
Into the feud the countries pour
Their youth, their strength, their vim, their pep.
We stand alert to do our bit
No matter what it be.
'Cause we're the soldiers of the king,
We're pledged to do our duty.

To higher ranks, we wait for orders,
We do not pause or hold debates.
We scrub the floors or guard the borders,
Drive trucks, throw hash to serve our mates.
To us our tasks seem dull and small,
More action we would crave to see;
But we're the soldiers of the king,
We're pledged to do our duty.

Back home, we know you plug our parts,
The letters we receive by post
From mothers, sisters, wives
Sweethearts,
They're our inspiration, pride and boast.
For you we play our humble roles,
'Cause for you we want to be
Your soldiers of your royal king
Who've pledged to do their duty.

This is a war, whose length and end
Is far beyond our vision,
On which food, weapons, tools,
depend
Its alternate decision.
A war where strength and strength alone,
Sustains the cause of liberty.
For all true subjects of the king
Who've pledged to do their duty.

If, in this vast machine of combat,
There is a greedy capitalist,
Or, perhaps, some filthy plutocrat
Who wealth and fame cannot resist,
He's just a common racketeer,
For whom contempt will always be
By those in service by their king
Who've pledged to do their duty.

We do not ask for wealth and fame,
Nor do we ask to know
What trick or plan for freedom's name,
Our statesmen will, in time, bestow.
We stand alert, we wait for orders,
And no matter what they be
We are the soldiers of the king
We've pledged to do our duty.
Extending greetings to all, I am,
Yours truly,
Milton Morton.

Received your wonderful Xmas parcel last night and it certainly was appreciated. It was quite a treat to read the list of all the contributors who donated to the fund which made the gift possible. I wish I could thank them all personally. I would also like to thank the Women's Institute for the socks which were enclosed. All in all, it was a dandy parcel and I feel sure that it helped to make the Xmas season a little more cheery for all the Newmarket lads over here.

The weather for the past month has been quite warm, but for the past few days it has turned a bit more wintry, with quite a cool wind blowing off the Channel. There's not the least sign of snow as yet, and I imagine that being this far south we shouldn't have any snow to speak of all winter.

America's entry into the war was welcomed over here though it may mean that for a time much of the Atlantic shipping will be diverted to the Pacific.

The Russian successes, plus our own victories in Libya and the Commando raids on Norway, all had a great effect on the morale of the British people, and this, plus the fact that it is now 8 months since there was a large scale raid on Britain, all seem to show that we've finally turned the corner, and by another New Year should be well advanced on the road to victory.

I must close now, but thanks again for the wonderful Xmas gift and also for the many and varied parcels I have received from your organization during the past year that I've been over here.

Yours sincerely,
Lorne McCordick.

Dear Friends,—

Hope this finds you all in the best of health and happiness. Received your most welcome parcel and I sure appreciated it very much and was very full of just what a soldier needs.

Well it doesn't seem another Christmas will be over soon, and we will just be here about two years, so well might talk like a limey soon. Met Vern Clark the other nite and he is the same as ever. He is always busy doing something or going somewhere. Nothing seems to worry him.

Well, I'll tell you something amusing. I was at a dance last Saturday night, and a girl asked me how I liked being a home guard so I politely as possible told her in my rather Canadian way, that as the Limeys were chased out of Dunkirk and Narvik and Greece and Crete, we were staying here to stop them from being chased out of England, so that is how it goes. Wish they would chase us back to Canada, and I would be satisfied.

Well about all for now. Hope you got the card, and I will try and get some more material and make some souvenirs for you. All the best luck for now.

Dear Sirs:

I was certainly glad to receive that parcel. In fact, you people do not and cannot imagine how much the boys over here appreciate these fine gifts from home. It gives them the feeling that they have not been forgotten by their many friends back home.

The parcel I received was enjoyed by all the chaps in the hut. We have a good gang and we share all the parcels that are received by the fellows. The day I received my parcel there were five other boys who received parcels so when we put them all together we had a grand feed. The boys, as well as myself, thank you with their whole hearts.

Your friend always,
Tpr. R. E. Farren.

Dear Mr. McIntosh:

Please accept and convey my thanks to your fellow members of the Vets. Assoc. I received two parcels from your Comforts Fund, and they were surely appreciated. In a land where many foodstuffs are synthetic, food from home is very nice to have. Where I am now smokes are available, but they are not as good as our own.

Give my best wishes to the boys for the New Year, and hope we'll soon sing "Apres la guerre finit."

I remain, as ever,
Yours truly,
Tpr. Dudley Carley.

Received smokes O.K. Thanks a million, and a prosperous New Year.

Alex. Thompson.

Pleasantville

News and Views of People and Things by Isabel Inglis Colville

People

Mrs. John McClure, Mrs. Douglas McClure and Miss Joyce VanLaven were supper guests on Wednesday of last week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toole.

The sale of homemade baking, which took place at the market on Friday, and which was sponsored by the P.O. Willing Workers, was entirely successful. Watch for its repetition. As it is for war work, I mean the proceeds, it should sweeten the labor of preparation, the joy of buying and the pleasure of consuming.

Our newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ridley, returned from their honeymoon on Tuesday evening of last week and will take up residence in Pleasantville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace and James, Jr., of Toronto, and Mr. Arthur Starr of Pickering visited Mrs. M. F. Starr and Mrs. R. Hawtin on Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Elmer Starr attended the Friends' Four Months' Meeting held at Norwich, and a meeting of the Friends' Service Committee held in Hamilton over the week-end.

We are pleased to report that most of the children who have been suffering from measles are on the mend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toole spent Friday of last week with Miss Lily Toole, Newmarket.

The Pleasantville girls' Home-makers' Club met on Saturday evening last, at the home of Miss Joyce VanLaven to arrange their program for the coming year. Their next meeting will be on the evening of Friday, Feb. 6, at the home of Miss Irene McNeil. Salad dressing is to be the subject of discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ridley, and Mr. and Mrs. Caulfield, Miss June Caulfield and Master Don Green of Aurora were guests at supper on Sunday night of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ridley.

Mrs. Albert Needler is visiting friends in Toronto. Mrs. Needler is convalescing after a bad attack of neuritis.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Forbes of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toole.

Miss McQueen went to Stayner over the weekend to attend the funeral of a friend and neighbor.

The annual meeting of the Pine Orchard Union Church took place at the church on Thursday evening of last week. It was the record of a very successful year in all ways, financially included.

Institute members attention! The meeting scheduled for Feb. 18 has been, of necessity, changed from the 18th to the 25th. Same home, same programme.

A large crowd attended the skating party of the Pine Orchard Community Club on Friday evening. A fine lunch was served afterwards, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McClure.

The Puppet Show to have been given under the auspices of the Community Club, has been indefinitely postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dike entertained a party of about twenty at dinner on Thursday evening, in aid of the British Bomb Victims' fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry West of Bogartown attended the dinner of Mr. and Mrs. Dike's on Thursday evening.

Institute members attention! There will be a quilting at Bogartown school house on Saturday afternoon. Will the members come as EARLY as possible after dinner, as Mrs. Williams, convenor, is anxious to finish these quilts as there are more to follow.

Things

"Photography and Styles" When you sit down, some stormy day, tired of work and tired of play, just root out from its hiding-place, an album of some year of yore—well, let us say, two score or more. Then take the pictures, one by one, I'm sure you'll find it lots of fun. The hats alone are worth the time, they quite deserve a separate rhyme.

They sat well up upon the head to fill the mind with constant dread lest all the hat pins we had used, had not caught on, or just refused to anchor those creations wide, and let them slip down to the side. Now in those days when hats can lie, well down your neck, or on one eye, when two large blooms, or a flower pot, may present the hat of the present day—it wouldn't cause our hearts to trip, if these creations chose to slip, they might look even better so, for its not much matter where they go. But in those days that now are past, a hat was fastened hard and fast. Three hat-pins, maybe skewered it tight, for it must sit just so, just right. And when a hat-pin caught a hair, 'twas fortunate women did not swear, for I have writhed in secret pain, and tried to ease that hat in vain, especially in days before a cap and gown in church we wore.

Then too, the skirts that swept the ground and filled you with disgust profound, and bordered all your gown with sand and made your shoes a picture grand.

Then there were boots that buttoned high, or laced until you wished to die, and garters long went over these, for fear, perchance, some day you'd freeze. Kid gloves we wore with much elation, so tight, they stopped our circulation, and if the weather got too bad, a muff was always to be had.

Our hair was a la pompadour, we bought a filler at the store, then planned it firmly to our head and always with some secret dread we combed our hair right over it, and hoped that it would cover it. And when these photographs I see, it always just occurs to me, that though the fashions of today, at times may fill us with dismay, yet there is something smart and neat—they do not drag about our feet, and hats, although they may be queer, do not us fill with anguish sheer; no button-hooks to carry round since someone has goloshes found. So, on some quiet snowy day, just take your album out, and say, "Which styles were best—the old, the new?" and I am sure as I can be, that you with me, will then agree, that present fashions are more sane, and hope those past ne'er come again.

BLOOMINGTON

Brown brought the message using as his topic "Hidden Treasure."

Mr. and Mrs. B. Barnes and Gwynn of Whitby were at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Paisley's on Sunday.

The skating party held by the C.E. on Saturday evening proved a decided success and the social hour with refreshments at Rev. G. W. Brown's was very enjoyable.

Miss Margaret Topper of Toronto, and Miss M. Rose of Beamsville were at Mr. A. Topper's on Sunday.

Mr. K. Graham of Whitby was a guest at Mr. E. A. Story's.

COUNCIL VOTE SELVES SALARIES

at that time was that it might induce a better class of citizens for council. Now I am in a way in favour of it. I was disgusted at the number that attended the last nomination meeting. I believe that this might be a means of stirring up interest. If it is put to a vote, I will vote for it. If it will make them interested enough to run for council, I am in favour of it.

"Other municipalities that receive pay were no better at nomination than we were," replied Reeve Lundy. "In a municipality of 8,000 people, only six attended nomination."

"I don't think I would be justified in supporting that by-law and have no thought of fee," said Ald. Frank Bowser. "I grant you that the year the camp came to this town it cost me $100 in gas, but since that time I have gotten over it, and don't feel any the worse for it. I think for the duration of the war we should carry on as we are to-day. And if the by-law passes, I'll donate every nickel to some war work."

"I'm not interested in the money," interjected Ald. Dixon. "I'm not worrying about that."

"Personally I don't think the people are unaware of the time we spend," said Ald. Spillette. "I think they appreciate what we do. I am not anxious for the $125. We all believe in economy, but I believe the taxpayers would be willing to remunerate the council of the town of Newmarket. I was extremely busy to-day and this gentleman was here to look over the industries. I don't regret it, but I spent most of the afternoon with him. Mr. Vale spends a lot of time away from his work. Now an afternoon to Mr. Vale is a lot of money. I don't think the taxpayer would be against it."

"Why didn't we do this before?" asked Ald. Higginson. "The ex-councillors suggested that it be done. Dixon says it would bring the council home to the people of Newmarket. It would waken the people up to responsibilities. That's all I have to say."

"At nomination meeting I said if it were brought up I would vote for it, and I still will," said Ald. Evans. "If you don't want the money you don't have to take it. If the people vote on it, you know very well they will vote it down. And the people who vote against it will say afterwards that we should get something. I can't see the idea of putting it to the ratepayers. We will be doing it for another council. I'm going to vote for it for the next fellow and not myself. This council's work is as valuable as Whitchurch or any others. It would be better all around. I don't feel justified in leaving the factory. You can put a bill into the council, but why should you have to put a bill in when it should be taken care of. If I don't get it, the next fellow will."

"If you don't do it, you will be passing the buck to another council," said Mayor Dales. "If you don't want the money you don't have to take it. I wouldn't mind calling you gentlemen up for a special meeting, if this by-law was passed. You would attend meetings more regularly. I'm going to put my money in Victory Bonds or War Savings Certificates. Now is the time to pass this by-law. If you haven't the courage to do it, no one else will. There will always be some who will object. We might have to go into the industrial situation more minutely. We might have to go to Ottawa again and it may involve a lot of work. I don't know why sensible people will ask the council to leave their businesses and then object to paying you the small sum of $10 a month. When this year is over, I'm through. I have no political ambitions any more. Anyone who wants to seek political ambitions will naturally oppose it. We'll go ahead. There are very few municipalities not paid."

"If you issue a plebiscite for parliament, county council, lawyers' fees or anything else, it would be turned down," said Clerk Mathews. "I don't think it is a fair thing to put to the people. It is only human nature that if they can get something for nothing, they will vote for it. Why should members be paid for sitting through county council and the same people not be paid for giving up their time for town council? Isn't town business as important as county business? I don't see any particular sin in paying the members of the council. The people will turn down anything that is costing them something."

Deputy-Reeve Vale insisted that the council was too large. He cited cases where the municipalities were much larger and had fewer members, and in these cases he believed it was alright to receive remuneration.

"We have got to take a stand on these things," stated Ald. Evans. "If we had put the police court question to the people, it would have been turned down, and lots of questions. If we haven't enough backbone to pass this, I question if we are capable of serving on the council."

At this time an amount of $300 for the Mayor was agreed upon.

"I think the Mayor deserves more, but on the other hand, the others are worth more too," said Clerk Mathews. "The people of Newmarket are accustomed to getting a lot for nothing."

"I am not interested in the amount," stated Ald. Evans. "We might make it a small amount now and then raise it after the war for the future council."

"I think you people are making a grave and serious error if you pass this principle, and I am definitely opposed," insisted Deputy-Reeve Vale.

This by-law was put to a vote with Mayor Dales, Aldermen Dixon, Spillette, Higginson and Evans in favour, and Reeve Lundy, Deputy-Reeve Vale and Alderman Bowser opposed. Alderman Armstrong was absent from the meeting.

"You fellows can fight it out at the next election," said Mayor Dales. "You won't have any objections."

"When I volunteered for council, I had no thought of pay," stated Alderman Bowser.

"Any remuneration I get will go into war services, but Fred, you don't need to take yours, and Joe, you don't need to take yours," chimed the Mayor.

"There are a number of municipal men who have been turning over every cent they received to the different war services," stated Reeve Lundy. "Since the Mayor has been telling you that this is what he is going to do, I might say that I have been doing that all along. And I didn't take this stand to-night for a political issue. I felt it was our job to do it."

As a result of the deputation from the Industrial Committee of the council and Mr. Lambert going to Ottawa two weeks ago in the interests of the smaller industries of town, an officer came up on Monday to make a survey of these plants.

"I am really convinced that if we could increase our smaller industries up to twenty-five or thirty hands it would insure our prosperity," stated Deputy-Reeve Vale.

"I agree that the smaller industries should be built up rather than having all our eggs in one basket," stated the Mayor. "You have brought our industries forcibly to the attention of our member and I believe he should accept our gratitude for the way he received you gentlemen. He is a very busy and important man. I would also like to congratulate you on the way you have acted in this matter."

A letter was received from the Navy League asking for a Tag Day on June 13. This was granted.

A letter was received from the Salvage Department at Ottawa requesting the town to turn over the memorial gun at the waterworks to the local salvage committee to dispose of it.

The R.S.A. Bugle Band sent a request to operate bingo at the hall one night a week, with the proceeds to go to the Navy Fund, British War Victims Fund and the Red Cross.

The Clerk was instructed to advise the band that they must apply to Ottawa for a charter under the War Charities Act.

There was not a very large attendance at the annual meeting and supper of the United Church in the basement on Wednesday evening. After supper all enjoyed a song service before the business meeting. All departments reported a successful year. The church board was instructed by a vote of those present, to purchase $300 in victory bonds.

The mortgage on the United Church parsonage had been paid off. Great credit goes to the W.A. for their part in paying off this debt. The mortgage was turned over to the president of the W.A., who burned it at this meeting.

The Cheerio Class held their regular January meeting on Saturday, Jan. 31, at the home of Mrs. H. Broderick, with 16 members present. After the regular meeting, the members completed the piecing of the quilt they are doing for the Red Cross. The members are to meet on Thursday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. S. Thompson, to put the quilt together. Mrs. Norman Brooks and Mrs. Ralph Cupples served the lunch at the Saturday evening meeting.

NEWS FROM KING CITY AND DISTRICT

A shower was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Monkman, Strange, recently, for her sister, Irene Gillies of Toronto, whose marriage took place at Weston on Saturday, Jan. 31. More than 50 attended.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Hilda Patton, for Miss Jean McClure of Toronto.

King Women's Institute branch will hold the February meeting on Monday, Feb. 9. The date has been altered to suit the speaker, Mrs. (Dr.) Devins of Aurora. The Patriotic Rally, Tuesday, Feb. 10, sponsored by Aurora Victory Chorus will be the highlight on that date.

Mrs. Earl J. Bowes returned to her home on January 21 following a surgical operation at St. Michael's hospital.

Nobleton W.I. will sponsor a St. Valentine's dance on Friday, Feb. 13, in the hall. No ill-fuck in this date for this W.I. The success of former St. Valentine dances ushers in the forthcoming event with good favour.

Mrs. Mannels and Mrs. A. Kelley sponsored a euchre and bingo last week at Mrs. Mannel's home, Humber trails. Twenty dollars or more was realized for soldiers' boxes, taken care of by King W.I.

Several ladies from the district attended W.M.S. Toronto Centre Convention of the United Church. Mrs. (Rev.) J. McEwan was again appointed officer in this area.

Miss Alice Ferguson and Mrs. A. McClure attended the annual meeting of Toronto Presbyterian W.M.S. held in Toronto last week. Mrs. (Rev.) J. A. Koffend of Newmarket has been appointed vice-president of Section four of the Presbyterian replacing Mrs. Bond of Aurora, who, though her term of office was brief, discharged her duties in a most pleasing and commendable manner. An experienced missionary in China, Mrs. Koffend is welcomed by the district.

Correction in speaking of an address by Rev. Mr. Hirtle of Richmond Hill, and one by Mrs. Roch of King, the occasion was the monthly meeting of Eversley Women's Missionary Society, held at Mrs. A. McClure's.

Mr. Leslie Robson of Aurora spent a few days with his grandmother, Mrs. Catharine Robson.

The annual skating carnival of Toronto Centre North Presbyterian Y.P.U., will be held at Newmarket on February 26, followed by a social hour at Trinity United Church.

Schomberg United Y.P.U. has incorporated the Anglican and Presbyterian societies as a community Young People's group. All groups have been depleted by the war, and the new formation is planned as a means of strength by union.

Officers are: Gibson Smith, past president; Harold Forth, secretary; Jack Wauchup, treasurer; Mildred Brown, fellowship, missions, culture, citizenship committees named, four convenors for each. Meetings will be held every second Monday evening.

Eversley Presbyterian Church held its congregational and annual meeting on Jan. 29. Financial statements in each department showed an increased balance. Improvements in the grounds were accomplished and plans were discussed to make further improvements.

Walter Gellatly was re-elected chairman of the managing board. Misses Jessie Gellatly and Ethel Ferguson as church organists, and Edith Bovair as Sunday school superintendent.

Departmental reports heard at the annual meeting of Nobleton United Church showed substantial balances in each, with missions and war charities receiving donations. A new organ was reported paid in full. The Sunday school had an average attendance of 44. It was decided to hold the anniversary services on the second Sunday in June in place of October, as heretofore.

The last of the "Kelly's" passed away on Sunday, Feb. 2, in the person of Archibald Kelly, 92 years of age. They were a noble family. Sturdy, Scotch settlers whose greatest wealth was their integrity. They were as upright as the tall hardwood trees they felled 110 years ago to build their pioneer home. They lived contentedly, majestically, the simple truths of life and enjoyed the fruits of such to a very great old age.

Archibald Kelly was the last of six children of Archibald and Mary Kelly, native of Kintyre Island, Scotland, who migrated to Canada in 1832. They came by foot from muddy York to the highlands of King township where virgin forest sloped down to a beautiful little lake. New Scotland they named their home, and "Kelly's Lake" it is forever. There were seven children; three lived more than 90 years, two more than 80, and two were past 70. The parents were both past 80. For many years the housekeeper, nurse, advisor and friend was Mary Mitchell, his niece. Upon her fell the burden of years of patient toil and service which she gave gladly and well. She survives, but only on a bed of great illness in St. Michael's Hospital. Archie Mathieson of Toronto is the one surviving nephew.

The funeral service was held from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Strange. Rev. F. V. Abbott of Schomberg officiated. Interment was made in King Cemetery on Tuesday, Feb. 3.

"Below" temperatures registered King 24, Nobleton 20, Kettleby 16, Schomberg 12. Let's spend our winters in Schomberg.

Laskay Radio Farm Forum met at Frank Marshall's on Monday evening. Twenty-five members discussed "Buying Together." Answers to questions scheduled were the U.F.O. in this district has been a successful co-operative enterprise in the controlling of some commodities, binding twine and salt.

Farmers could do all their buying co-operatively if they were so minded. But under the present government system of price control there is possibly, not the need of such at present.

Co-operation is not the cure-all to the farmers problems. It is a vast help, especially in the pooling of labour and in co-operation in the use of farm machinery and implements.

ROCHE'S POINT

A social of wide interest for the community will be held in the Parish Hall on Friday evening, February 6, commencing sharp at eight o'clock D.S.T. The main feature of the evening will be the showing of a film featuring Dick Powell and Allan Drew in "Christmas in July." Music and refreshments will round out an enjoyable evening's entertainment. A silver collection will be taken in aid of the work of Christ Church W.A. The gathering has been made possible through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Matthews of Toronto. Everybody in the community is welcome.

The Women's Institute held a very successful meeting at the home of Miss M. C. Young on Tuesday afternoon, January 13. Mrs. E. J. Bunn, the president, was in the chair. The speaker for the occasion was the Rev. A. I. Forte, who gave a brief address entitled "How to Write Your Member of Parliament." The speaker stressed the point that when citizens take enough interest to write to their lawmakers and feel free to speak their minds, and when their Members honestly reply, FAITH in Democratic Government is established. A social hour followed the business part of the meeting.

On February 10, Roche's Point branch of the Women's Institute are entertaining branches from Belhaven, Lakeside, and Elmhurst. The meeting will be held in Christ Church Parish Hall, and will commence sharp at 2 p.m. D.S.T. Visitors in the community will be made welcome.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. A. H. Wallinck, who died at York County Hospital, Newmarket, on Monday, Jan. 26, were held on Wednesday 28. A short service was held at her late residence, followed by a public service in Christ Church, which was very largely attended. Relatives and friends were present from Toronto, Newmarket, Keswick and Sutton to pay their last respects to one who had given so much of her time and energy for the welfare of the community. The services were in charge of the Rev. A. J. Forte, assisted by the Rev. G. Lapp of Keswick.

Favourable reports were given at all three vestry meetings in the mission which were held recently. All financial obligations were met, including church maintenance and missionary apportionments. At St. James, Sharon, R. J. Rogers was elected minister's warden, and W. D. Grose people's warden. Lay delegate to Synod, Thomas Lowndes. Auditors, Mrs. B. L. Phillips and Mrs. Thomas Lowndes. Christ Church, Holland Landing, the following were elected: J. Kitching, minister's warden; William Sweeney, Jr., people's warden; and Mrs. S. Greig. At Christ Church, Roche's Point, Mr. J. Baines was re-elected minister's warden, and Walter Beerling the people's warden. Lay delegate to Synod, Mr. F. Gordon Osler. Mr. J. Bruce MacKinnon was re-elected auditor for the ensuing year. The incumbent, Rev. A. J. Forte presided at all three vestry meetings.

A teacher was impressing upon her class the fact that you cannot subtract one thing from another unless they are of the same denomination. "For instance," she said, "we cannot take two apples from three oranges."

Then a bright boy said: "But, teacher, can't we take four apples from two trees?"

WHAT ECONOMIC WARFARE

MEANS

by Noel Barber

How, after more than two years of war, after changed conditions and fluctuating boundaries, is Britain waging her share of economic warfare? What are the results—and how does she wage this warfare?

I have spent an afternoon with Dr. Hugh Dalton, Britain's Minister of Economic Warfare, finding out. For Dr. Dalton—tall, with a high, domed forehead and a genial manner—knows all the answers, knows everything there is to know about the magic word Blockade.

Though he won't use the word blockade now. Not alone, anyway. "This is economic war—in the full sense of the word," he told me. "It is not blockade. And it hasn't been since June, 1940, when the Germans took control of Western Europe. Until then, of course, naval patrols had been able to keep watch, and bring ships still trading with neutral European countries into control bases for examination, so that we could seize cargoes which would have found their way to Germany."

"But in June, 1940, we had to find a new technique to meet the new situation. We couldn't possibly maintain patrols to watch the enemy's great coastline—quite apart from the fact that our ships were needed for other jobs."

How Navicerts Began So Britain started the system of compulsory navicerts and ships warrants. All ships sailing to Europe had to have every item of cargo covered by navicerts—a sort of commercial passport for the cargoes. In other words, the cargo had to be prepared before it was loaded. "In fact," says Dr. Dalton, "the blockade was moved one stage further back. It became a blockade on the quays instead of on the seas."

To shipowners who gave satisfactory undertakings, Britain issued ship warrants. She trusts those men, and the warrants give them ships access to all facilities, such as bunkers, repairs and so on, under British control.

"Of course you mustn't forget," said Dr. Dalton, "that navicerts are only one arm of economic warfare. We've got other weapons as well, such as export licensing, immobilization of enemy funds abroad, black-listing and that valuable weapon, pre-emption—which means buying goods which otherwise would have been available to the enemy. And in all this, we have the powerful help of the United States."

"The United States Licensing List, which at this moment covers all important economic materials except cotton, not only conserves supplies for the defense effort of the United States, but denies them to agents who might have passed them on to the enemy. And then, the huge United States purchasing program in Latin America has covered much of the output of many valuable metals, such as tin and copper. Do you know—in six months, the United States has bought more goods by value from Latin America than were normally sold in a year to all countries in Europe. We are also undertaking a similar pre-emptive program."

Freezing Assets

Then there is the freezing of assets. As the Minister pointed out, the United States last summer froze German and Italian funds, and subsequently Japanese assets, wherever they were under her control. This means that Axis funds are not directly available any longer to finance propaganda and subversive interests within the borders of the United States.

"Our own Black List has been functioning for some time," added Dr. Dalton, "barring enemy-controlled firms so far as British trade is concerned. And this has been strengthened by the United States Proclaimed List, which gives the names of Latin-American firms who will be treated as Axis nationals and boycotted by Americans. So you see, we use a great variety of weapons and cover a great deal of ground. And behind it, of course, is the Navy—the threat which can be used if an old ship or two attempts to run the blockade."

The Ministry itself—the central organization—controls all the issues of navicerts, the general policy and so on, but there is another side on which much of the other activity depends. That is the work of the Intelligence branch.

Secret Watch on Germany

"In this," said Dr. Dalton, "we coordinate commercial information received from all over the world. We have a separate section dealing with neutral firms in which we're interested, while another records statistics of the trade of neutral countries adjacent to the enemy."

"We also have a large department watching—through secret sources, as well as the German newspapers and radio—economic conditions in Germany and the occupied countries, so that we can check the effects of the blockade and advise the chiefs of staff on the economic implications of any strategic plan. Particularly, we have regular discussions with the Air Ministry about industrial bombing targets in Germany."

So you see, there is a great deal of machinery behind the stopping of an enemy ship in mid-Atlantic. But does it help? And has Hitler's march into Russia broken the blockade?

Dr. Dalton smiled. "Well," he said, "if you're expecting a sensational economic breakdown inside Germany, then of course you'll be disappointed. We know what we're up against, and we aren't disappointed. As for Hitler's Russian enterprise—that has actually helped us."

"Germany is now boasting that with her conquests in Russia the blockade is broken, but that is completely untrue. Oil, rubber, textiles, leather, steel-hardening metals, copper and vegetable oils are not only German but European deficiencies. The Russian campaign has closed Germany's lifeline to the Far East—The Trans-Siberian railway—by which she got vegetable oils, rubber and silk. The Germans can't get any more wool and cotton from Russia or Iran."

"Of course, the Russians have had grave industrial losses, but the German gains are not commensurate, because they don't make up for the real German and European deficiencies. Now, only the Marcellus leak is still open, and there the Germans are trying to exploit it to get, among other things, vegetable oils and phosphates. But even so, the blockade is tighter than ever before."

"As for the immediate effects, you must look for them behind the German front lines. Civilians in occupied countries—and that includes Germany's partner, Italy—and in Germany itself, feel the pinch first. Then industries in German Europe feel it. And lastly, the army. We haven't forgotten that the blockade, admittedly very effective in the last war, didn't stop the great German offensive of 1918."

"Italy is the most recent sufferer from blockade. Bread, potatoes and clothes have suddenly been rationed, but German civilians are also feeling the pinch. The German clothes ration has been reduced by at least twenty-five per cent. The German meat ration was cut last summer by twenty per cent, and potatoes, one of their staple foods, have now been rationed locally."

"German industry is bound to suffer too. The Russian campaign (whether the Nazis are advancing or retreating) is reducing German stocks of raw materials. It emphasizes the difficulties of transport—one of Germany's most serious problems—and is draining German manpower which is needed, not only for armies of occupation, but to grow food which Europe cannot import, and mine coal to make synthetic oil and rubber."

Then the Minister summed it all up in these few words—words which are at once an answer to the critic and a deterrent to the over-optimist. He said:

"The blockade is only one of the weapons we employ. By itself it cannot force a decision. However, used with our other arms, it may well help to tip the scale. It is a long-term weapon which cannot achieve spectacular results in a short time, but its effects are cumulative—as the enemy is now finding to his cost."

BLAZING PARCEL ENDANGERS SOLDIERS' MAIL

Fresh Case of Matches Igniting in Package at Base Post Office; Warning Given

Notwithstanding the repeated warnings of the Canadian Post Office Department against sending matches, lighter-fluid or any other inflammable substance through the mails, a fresh case of a parcel bursting into flames at the Base Post Office, Ottawa, has just been reported to Honourable William P. Mulock, K.C., Postmaster General, by Canadian Postal Corps authorities.

A few days ago when a bag of ordinary parcel post was being emptied on the opening table at the Base Post Office, one of the parcels burst into flames. Examination of the package revealed that among its contents were six boxes of matches, one of which had become ignited and caused the fire. Such a blaze might easily have resulted in huge loss to the other mails, and to the premises, while had it occurred when the bags were stowed away deep in the hold of a mail steamer the outbreak could have caused the loss of the ship and of the valuable cargo, not to mention injury and loss of life to the heroic personnel who are risking their lives to get the arms, supplies and mails safely overseas in the face of constant danger from hostile submarines, aircraft and surface raiders.

The Postal authorities lost no time in impressing the sender with the gravity of his action and with the fact that the most serious consequences might have resulted from his thoughtlessness.

The Postmaster General requests the public to give him their co-operation in safeguarding the mails to our armed services by never mailing matches of any sort, lighter-fluid or other articles likely to cause fire or damage.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR DREDGING OLD RIVER BED

The Thompson Construction Engineering Company, of Toronto, has been awarded the contract for dredging and cleaning out the old Holland River bed in the Holland River Marsh, the work to begin as early as possible and to be completed, we understand, by the end of April.

For years, practically ever since the completion of the Holland Marsh drainage scheme, the old river bed has been gradually filling in with weeds and silt, and, for the purpose of improving the drainage, particularly at the western end of the scheme, it has finally been found necessary to have the old river channel dredged.
